Building a vibrant, virtual Christian Aid Week

In the space of just a few months, the coronavirus pandemic has caused a big change in society.

The outbreak has affected all areas of life. It has brought pain and doubt for so many, both here and abroad, taking centre stage in our thoughts, conversations and prayers.

As individuals, families, communities and organisations, this crisis continues to have a big impact on how we go about our daily business. We have all had to change to new ways of living.

In these difficult times, many churches have already made brave steps, streaming services online and using technology and social media to reach out to communities.

In the same way, Christian Aid has also been thinking creatively about how best to ensure we can continue to stand together with the most vulnerable people during this time of global crisis. This is particularly important as Christian Aid Week 2020 approaches.
